

New Strategic Partnership – Andreas Souloutzidakis Joins BPM S.A. as Partner

BPM proudly welcomes Andreas Souloutzidakis to the team as Partner!

As stated by BPM's Chairwoman and CEO, Cathy Christidou:

"Andreas brings over 35 years of experience in senior executive roles and is widely recognized for his strategic thinking, leadership skills, and deep expertise in key areas of business and management. His long-standing career across leading companies and organizations makes him a valuable addition in strengthening our high-level consulting services, particularly in the areas of strategy, transformation, and leadership development—further supported by BPM's collaboration with the internationally renowned firm Persona Global."

In his own words, Andreas Souloutzidakis shared:

"I am excited to begin this new chapter of my professional journey as a Partner at BPM. I strongly believe that my experience and knowledge can contribute meaningfully to the company's continued growth and the creation of added value for our clients. The vision of BPM's Chairwoman & CEO, the exceptional team, and their shared purpose have truly inspired me—and I look forward to what we'll achieve together."

This partnership is part of BPM's strategic initiative to strengthen its leadership team with seasoned professionals who combine experience, insight, and professionalism, aiming to deliver innovative and effective solutions with high added value.
